Acknowledgments

Many people have helped in bringing this book about, and we would like to take this opportunity to thank them. Naturally, first to be thanked are the contributors: without them there would have been no book. But we wish to thank them especially for being so patient, while one of us — Ruqaiya Hasan — struggled to complete work with other colleagues on two other volumes: one which could be seen as a companion to this volume (On Subject and Theme: A Discourse Functional Perspective co-edited by Ruqaiya Hasan and Peter Fries, Benjamins 1995), and another, called Literacy in Society co-edited by Ruqaiya Hasan and Geoffrey Williams (Longman, in press). Though each of these volumes is an independent entity, the three are brought together by their history — the majority of papers in these volumes represent a selection from among those heard at the ISFC1992 meetings held at Macquarie University, School of English, Linguistics and Media in July 1992.

We would like to thank the ISFC1992 Organising Committee for the assistance they gave on that occasion: that was the first contribution towards the appearance of this volume. We thank also Macquarie University, the School of English, Linguistics and Media, and especially the discipline of Linguistics for their generous support of the Congress, and although it is not possible to name all the good friends, students and colleagues who helped to make the Congress a success, their help is gratefully remembered and warmly appreciated.

We recall here with affection Yola de Lusetet, formerly of Benjamins, who guided us in the early months of the planning of this volume, and we wish to express our special thanks to Anke de Looper of Benjamins who taking over from Yola de Lusetet has been a wonderful help in every respect.
