Acknowledgements

All papers in this publication were read and positively evaluated by two anonymous referees. We would like to thank these colleagues for the time they spent and for the careful analyses of the papers they reviewed. We would also like to thank the series editor, E.F. Konrad Koerner, and John Benjamins Publishers for the opportunity to publish our book. Our greatest debt of thanks is to our formatter, Anastasia Moraitis, for the large amount of work she did and the patience she had with us throughout. Finally, we want to thank Anke de Looper, our contact person at Benjamins, and René Dirven, president of the International Cognitive Linguistics Association (ICLA) from 1995 to 1997, who is responsible for the idea and the structure of the three volumes. Marjolijn Verspoor took on the difficult task of coordinating all three volumes—thank you, Marjolijn, for doing a terrific job. Finally, special thanks goes to Katharina Oppitz, our assistant at the Department of German Language, University of Trier, and to Lucie and Katerina Piro from the Institute of German Language, Mannheim.
