

Preface

 <https://doi.org/10.1075/cilt.73.01pre>

Page xi of

Current Advances in Semantic Theory

Edited by Maxim I. Stamenov

[Current Issues in Linguistic Theory, 73] 1992. xi, 565 pp.

© John Benjamins Publishing Company

This electronic file may not be altered in any way. For any reuse of this material written permission should be obtained from the publishers or through the Copyright Clearance Center (for USA: www.copyright.com).

For further information, please contact rights@benjamins.nl or consult our website at benjamins.com/rights

Preface

Included in the present volume are selected contributions to the International Symposium on "Models of Meaning" held September 25-28, 1988 in the Druzhba resort near Varna, Bulgaria. This meeting was organized under the auspices of the Institute of the Bulgarian Language of the Bulgarian Academy of Sciences.

I would like to thank the colleagues who helped me with the selection of papers at the time of the Symposium, serving as members of the Editorial Advisory Committee under the chairmanship of Hans-Heinrich Lieb. The final selection was made by the editor based on the advice of the International Committee which included the following scholars: Jens Allwood, Jurij Apresjan, Marcelo Dascal, Stefana Dimitrova, Ivan Duridanov, Eva Hajičová, Harry Hunt, Ferenc Kiefer, Robert Longacre, Jacob Mey, Makoto Nagao and Gayle Privette.

I wish to express my warmest thanks to Konrad Koerner for his help and instruction in the editing and finalization of the publishing project, which went far beyond his duties as General Editor of the series in which the book appears.

Alexis Valerin and Trifon Asenov, programmers for the Laboratory for Applied Linguistics of the Institute for Foreign Students in Sofia were of continuous support in the realization of the project, assisting in the manipulation of the manuscripts which arrived from different countries in different conditions and formats, written on various word processors, etc.

Robert Sturm shared his knowledge of English as a native speaker in editing some of the manuscripts and translating the paper of Pierre Solié from the original French. Elza Todorova helped by entering some of the manuscripts into the computer and technically editing and verifying another part of them.

Maxim Stamenov