Some of the papers collected in this volume (Baker, Van der Voort & Muysken, Stein, Arends) were first presented at the Amsterdam Creole Workshop Creolization: The Early Stages, which was held at the University of Amsterdam, September 4–5, 1992. The workshop was financially supported by the Netherlands Organization for Scientific Research (NWO), the Institute for Functional Research of Language and Language Use (IFOTT) and the Faculty of Letters, both of the University of Amsterdam. The support of these institutions is hereby gratefully acknowledged. I would also like to thank my co-organizers, Cefas van Rossem, Tonjes Veenstra, and Hein van der Voort for their contribution in preparing the workshop.

I am grateful to the editors of this series, Pieter Muysken and John Singler, for providing me with the opportunity to edit a volume on the early stages of creolization, a subject which—despite its rapidly growing interest—has not received a book-length treatment up to now. Pieter Muysken deserves a special word of thanks for his continuing interest in the progress of this book. During the organization of the workshop and the preparation of the book, the editor was a fellow of the Royal Netherlands Academy of Arts and Sciences (KNAW) and a post-doctoral researcher of the Foundation for Language, Speech and Logic (TSL), which is funded by the Netherlands Organization for Scientific Research. The support of these institutions is hereby gratefully acknowledged.

Finally, I would like to thank the contributors to this book for their cooperation and patience.
