Acknowledgments

This volume grew out of a common interest for the expression of negation and its relevance to the phenomenon of Negative Concord in Creole languages. We would first like to express our appreciation to the contributors of the volume for agreeing to be part of this project, which we believe will contribute greatly to the field of creolistics. The completion of this project has not been without its setbacks but our collaborators have shown remarkable patience and cooperation in revising their chapters and reviewing papers for this collection. We are also particularly grateful to the external reviewers for their work and suggestions on the chapters of this book. We would finally like to thank the editors of the Contact Language Library for their supportive collaboration.
