This book has developed from my PhD dissertation. I thank Professor Ewa Willim, my dissertation supervisor, for her invaluable guidance which I received while working on this project. I am also grateful to Professor Ireneusz Bobrowski and Professor István Kenesei for their insightful reviews of the dissertation.

I conducted parts of the research presented here at Utrecht University (spring 2012), the University of Potsdam (autumn 2013), the Research Institute for Linguistics of the Hungarian Academy of Sciences (spring 2014), the University of Maryland at College Park (autumn 2014 and autumn 2015), and Indiana University Bloomington (spring 2015). I am grateful to Professors Martin Everaert, Gisbert Fanselow, István Kenesei, Howard Lasnik, and Steven Franks for supervising my respective visits and to the researchers who I could learn from and interact with for providing me with stimulating and hospitable working environments. I thank the Tokyo Foundation, Narodowe Centrum Nauki [Polish National Science Centre], the Kosciuszko Foundation, Indiana University Bloomington, and the Jagiellonian University for financing my research visits abroad.

Special thanks go to the native speakers of various languages who shared their judgments and observations with me.
