Acknowledgements

I would like to acknowledge my indebtedness to:

- Prof. Ján Horecký who, some fifteen years ago, gave me the idea of studying the exciting field of word-formation, and in a fatherly way guided me through many pitfalls of penetrating into the secrets of word-formation, especially at my beginnings, and who also gave me a number of valuable comments on the manuscript of this book;
- Prof. Eva Hajičová and prof. Petr Sgall who gave me several pages of highly valuable suggestions, all but a few of which led to corrections or revisions in the text;

I acknowledge a special debt to:

- Prof. Rochelle Lieber who offered many penetrating comments from a different theoretical perspective. I managed to take into consideration many of them (although at the last moment), which, I believe, increased the clarity of my account;

Finally, I would like to thank to:

- The members of the "Lexicology" session of the ISIR/4 conference in Debrecen in 1998 for their comments on an outline of my theory;
- Prof. Josef Hladký for commenting on an outline of my theory;
- Ing. Vladimír Burger who performed in a masterly way the laborious task of computer-editing the manuscript.
