Typographical conventions

The following typographical conventions are used in this book:

- Examples of terms are in italics, e.g. smart phone
- Italics are also used for emphasis, for instance, when a concept is first introduced
- Field labels in a terminology management system or other software are in bold, e.g. Part of speech
- Permissible values of fields are shown in italics, e.g. noun
- Quotations from other sources are in quotation marks

Note: To avoid the awkward plural form of acronyms, such as “TMSs” for “terminology management systems,” we have chosen to keep the singular form even when the acronym is used in a plural sense.
