

CONTENTS

Preface vii

I THE ROLE OF AFFECTS IN PSYCHOANALYTIC THEORY

1 New Perspectives on Drive Theory 3

2 The Psychopathology of Hatred 21

II DEVELOPMENTAL ASPECTS OF BROAD-SPECTRUM PERSONALITY DISORDERS

3 Clinical Dimensions of Masochism 35

4 Hysterical and Histrionic Personality Disorders 52

5 Antisocial and Narcissistic Personality Disorders 67

III CLINICAL APPLICATIONS OF OBJECT RELATIONS THEORY

6 Object Relations Theory in Clinical Practice 87

7 An Ego Psychology–Object Relations Theory Approach to the Transference 103

8 An Ego Psychology–Object Relations Theory of Structural Change 119

9 Transference Regression and Psychoanalytic Technique with Infantile Personalities 140

IV TECHNICAL APPROACHES TO SEVERE REGRESSION

- 10 Projection and Projective Identification: Developmental and Clinical Aspects 159
- 11 Projective Identification, Countertransference, and Hospital Treatment 175
- 12 Identification and Its Vicissitudes as Observed in Psychosis 193
- 13 Vicissitudes of and Pleasure in Hatred 211
- 14 Psychopathic, Paranoid, and Depressive Transferences 222

V THE PSYCHODYNAMICS OF PERVERSION

- 15 The Relation of Borderline Personality Organization to the Perversions 247
- 16 A Theoretical Frame for the Study of Sexual Perversions 263
- 17 A Conceptual Model for Male Perversion (with Particular Reference to Male Homosexuality) 277

References 293

Permissions 305

Index 307