

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

This book is based on the proceedings of the 2000 Indonesia Update Conference, held at the Australian National University (ANU), Canberra, on 6–7 October 2000. The conference, and this volume, received generous financial and logistical support from a wide range of organisations, including the Australian Agency for International Development (AusAID) and the Research School of Pacific and Asian Studies (RSPAS) at the ANU. The conference attracted speakers and representatives from numerous universities and research centres in Australia and overseas.

We would like to thank a number of people for their contributions. The conference was organised by Bob Lowry of the Australian Defence Force Academy, who brought together a diverse and eminent group of scholars. Valuable support was provided by Karen Nulty, Liz Drysdale, Trish van der Hoek and Lynn Moir of the Indonesia Project in the Division of Economics, RSPAS, as well as by a small group of Indonesian and Australian students. Particular thanks are due to Dr Chris Manning, Head of the Indonesian Project, and the session coordinators, Bob Elson, Robert Cribb and Howard Dick.

This volume is published by the Institute of Southeast Asian Studies (ISEAS), Singapore, in what is now a traditional arrangement. We greatly appreciate the involvement of ISEAS, especially its Managing Editor, Triena Ong, in the publication of the book. The manuscript was deftly and expertly prepared by Beth Thomson, and the index was compiled by Jean Kennedy.

Finally, we appreciate the efforts of all contributors who drafted and revised their papers in order to meet a very demanding publishing deadline. In particular, we are grateful for the contribution of Emeritus Professor John Legge. He has written widely on Indonesian history and his thoughts presented here in this volume set the scene for the thoughtful perspectives on Indonesian political, economic and social history that follow.
