

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

I thank the Ethnic Studies Committee of the University of California, Santa Cruz, for a small grant that enabled me to hire Jenni Currie to enter Mary Paik Lee's manuscript into a computer and to do the first round of editing on the text. I appreciate the intelligent manner in which Jenni, who has an M.A. in the teaching of English as a second language, approached this task. Frances Trujillo of the San Benito County Office of Education, Hollister; Beverly Rianda, registrar of San Benito High School, Hollister; Nancy Pedro of the Willows Unified School District, Willows; and Karen Pearson of the Office of the County Recorder, Willows; made documents available to me, while workers in the Office of the County Recorder in Oroville, Butte County; Colusa, Colusa County; Willows, Glenn County; Yuba City, Sutter County; and Marysville, Yuba County, graciously allowed me to spend days looking through their records. I thank them all most heartily. I am grateful as well to the two colleagues who reviewed the manuscript for the University of Washington Press and to Naomi Pascal, Julidta Tarver, and Gretchen Van Meter of the University of Washington Press, who made many improvements in the manuscript.

The wonderful academic and public libraries in northern California are among the region's greatest cultural treasures. The resources of the Bancroft Library, the Government Documents Library, the Doe Library, and the Asian American Studies Library at the University of California, Berkeley; the Flora Lamson Hewlett Library at the Graduate Theological Union, Berkeley; the Dean McHenry Library at the University of California, Santa Cruz; the Willows Public Library in Glenn County; and the Hollister Public Library in San Benito County made doing research for this book a pleasure. Finally, knowing Mary Paik Lee has truly been a privilege.
