

Acknowledgments

This book originated in an international conference held at UCLA in 2000, "Iran and the Surrounding World since 1500: Cultural Influences and Interactions," sponsored by UCLA's G. E. von Grunebaum Center for Near Eastern Studies (Irene Bierman, director) and the university's Center for 17th & 18th Century Studies and William Andrews Clark Memorial Library (Peter Reill, director). The highly successful conference was accompanied by a film program; a concert combining Iranian, South Asian, and Arab music, led by Ali Jihad Racy; and a reception to greet the festschrift Iran and Beyond: Essays in Middle Eastern History in Honor of Nikki R. Keddie, edited by Rudi Matthee and Beth Baron and published by Mazda in the same year as the conference.

Generous cosponsors of the conference and the reception were UCLA's Division of Social Sciences, Division of Humanities, International Studies and Overseas Programs, Department of History, Department of Near Eastern Languages and Cultures, Center for Modern and Contemporary Studies, Center for the Study of Women, Center for Social Theory and Comparative History, Center for Medieval and Renaissance Studies, Center for European and Russian Studies, Center for International Relations, Center for Jewish Studies, Center for the Study of Religion, the Franklin D. Murphy Chair, the "1939 Club" Chair, the James S. Coleman Chair, and the Henry J. Bruman Chair. All sponsors and cosponsors helped ensure the high level of the conference and ultimately made this book possible. For their excellent organization of the conference, special thanks are also due to the staff of the UCLA Near Eastern Studies Center, especially Associate Director Jonathan Friedlander, and to the staff of the Center for 17th & 18th Century Studies.

In addition to the authors of this book, the following people participated in the conference in various capacities, and their comments on the papers were very helpful to the editors: Janet Afary (who commented on the entire manuscript), Barbara Metcalf, Leslie Peirce, Hossein Ziai, Hamid Algar, and Thierry Zarcone. Thanks are due as well to Houchang Chehabi (who also commented on the entire manuscript) and to our excellent University of Washington Press editors, Michael Duckworth and Xavier Callahan. We also give special thanks to our authors for their additional work in updating their papers, and to the few authors whose papers were added after the conference, when we found that they were working on important subjects relevant to the book.

NIKKI R. KEDDIE
Los Angeles, California

RUDI MATTHEE
Metuchen, New Jersey