

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

GOOD SCIENCE and the best scholarship are collaborative. This book is possible due to the amazing work of incredible scholars and their willingness to share insights, discoveries, methods, and challenges. I am especially indebted to Anne Fausto-Sterling and Sarah Richardson for their monumental contributions and for facilitating my and the scholarship of so many others on the topic of sex. Other scholars who are central to my learning, thinking, and working in this area include Sari Van Anders, John Archer, Samantha Archer, Bruce Bagehemil, Rick Bricecas, Kate Clancy, Catherine Clune-Taylor, Lucy Cooke, Amanda Cortez, Kimberly Crenshaw, Molly Crockett, Simone de Beauvoir, Andrea DiGiorgio, Phyllis Dolhinow, L. Zachary DuBois, Holly Dunsworth, Lise Eliot, Cordelia Fine, Richard Frum, Lee Gettler, Patricia Gowaty, Scott Gilbert, Matthew Gutmann, Donna Haraway, bell hooks, Sarah Hrdy, Daphna Joel, Rebecca Jordan-Young, Katrina Karkazis, Craig Kirkpatrick, Alexandra Kralick, Sarah Lacy, Roger Lancaster, Judith Lorber, Katherine C. MacKinnon, Donna Maney, Jon Marks, Jim McKenna, Stephanie Meredith, Mary Midgley, Mia Miyagi, Monique Borgerhoff Mulder, Serena Nanda, Robin Nelson, Cara Ocock, Gina Rippon, Joan Roughgarden, Julianne Rutherford, Heather Shattuck-Heirdorn, Rick Smith, Zuleyma Tang-Martinez, Caroline VanSickle, Cara Wall-Scheffler, Polly Wiessner, Mary Jane West-Eberhard, Adrienne Zihlman, Marlene

Zuk, the GENDERSCI lab at Harvard, and many others. I thank my amazing colleagues in the Department of Anthropology at Princeton for their support and intellectual community and all the students at UC Berkeley, Central Washington University, The University of Notre Dame, and Princeton University who have inspired me to think and learn.

I effusively thank Rebecca Jordan-Young and Donna Maney for their generous, constructive, insightful, and comprehensive reviews on earlier versions of the manuscript and an anonymous reviewer for their strong critique and extensive commentary. This book would not have been possible without the amazing Alison Kalett, Hallie Schaeffer, and the entire team at PUP, and the wonderful support of Melissa Flashman at Janklow & Nesbit Associates. Hank Southgate did a terrific copyedit. My family, especially my mother and sisters, have shaped my engagement with these topics, and Shelley the Wonderdog offered support throughout the writing process. Finally, and most importantly, this book and my capacity to write it results in large part from the more than thirty years of partnership, discussions, debates, and collaborations with Devi Snively.
