
Contents

Acknowledgements	vii
Introduction: Deleuze's World Tour of Cinema William Brown and David Martin-Jones	1
1 An Imprint of Godzilla : Deleuze, the Action-Image and Universal History David Deamer	18
2 Philosophy, Politics and Homage in Tears of the Black Tiger Damian Sutton	37
3 Time-Images in Traces of Love : Repackaging South Korea's Traumatic National History for Tourism David Martin-Jones	54
4 The Rebirth of the World: Cinema According to Baz Luhrmann Richard Rushton	71
5 'There are as many paths to the time-image as there are films in the world': Deleuze and The Lizard William Brown	88
6 In Search of Lost Reality: Waltzing with Bashir Markos Hadjioannou	104
7 The Schizoanalysis of European Surveillance Films Serazer Pekerman	121
8 Fictions of the Imagination: Habit, Genre and the Powers of the False Amy Herzog	137
9 Feminine Energies, or the Outside of Noir Elena del Río	155

10	The Daemons of Unplumbed Space: Mixing the Planes in Hellboy	173
	Anna Powell
11	Digitalising Deleuze: The Curious Case of the Digital Human Assemblage, or What Can a Digital Body Do?	192
	David H. Fleming
12	The Surface of the Object: Quasi-Interfaces and Immanent Virtuality	210
	Seung-hoon Jeong
	Notes on Contributors	227
	Index	231