

CONTENTS

PREFACE TO THE FIRST EDITION	ix
PREFACE TO 1998 EDITION	xv
ACKNOWLEDGMENTS	xxvi
 PART ONE Perspective and Consensus	 1
ONE. The Premises of Realism	3
Discontinuity in Medieval Art	6
The Rationalization of Sight	16
Adiaphora	24
Knowledge and Power	33
TWO. Perspective in Narration	38
The Rationalization of Consciousness	40
The Ethic of Mobility	55
THREE. The Narrator as Nobody	65
 PART TWO Problematics of Agreement	 93
FOUR. Time and Eternity: The Cases of Robinson Crusoe and Pamela	95
Discontinuous Time and Rhetorical Sequence	100
The Dangers of Meditation	120
Accommodating Difference	127
FIVE. Jane Austen's Critique of Distance	144
Narrative Correction in Emma	147
Narration and Perspective in Persuasion	162

CONTENTS

PART THREE	Recollection and Consent	179
SIX.	Mutual Friendship and the Identity of Things in Dickens	181
	Problems of Articulation	182
	Consensus in Our Mutual Friend	197
SEVEN.	George Eliot's Invisible Community	222
	Ideas and Things	225
	Difference and Form	230
	Sequence and Difference	243
EPILOGUE:	The Example of Henry James	257
BIBLIOGRAPHY		275
INDEX		291