

Tables

1.1	Language analysis and branches of linguistics	8
3.1	Phonetic groupings often used in stylistic analysis	28
3.2	Types of poetic meter	37
4.1	Forms of morphological deviation	48
5.1	Standard complementation patterns in English	57
5.2	Sentence types and clause combination	66
6.1	Syntactic triggers of equivalence and opposition	74
7.1	Tendencies of 'powerful' and 'powerless' speakers	85
7.2	Types of speech act	87
8.1	Speech presentation categories	98
8.2	Speech, thought, and writing presentation categories	99
9.1	Types of modal shading	114
10.1	Typical clause elements in transitivity analysis	124
10.2	A summary of the transitivity model	127
12.1	Stockwell's list of features of good textual attractors	153
13.1	Deictic fields and linguistic markers	172
14.1	Ways in which discourses can affect schemas	177
14.2	Orders of informativity	182
14.3	FRUIT and MOBILE PHONE schemas in The One Ronnie	184
15.1	Archetypal roles in cognitive grammar	193
16.1	Conceptual mappings in LOVE IS A JOURNEY	207
16.2	Metaphorical figures of speech	208
16.3	Partial list of image-schemas	212
17.1	A reminder of different types of modality	228
19.1	Indicative list of modes for vision, sound, and touch	250
19.2	Base and embedded units for Illuminae , p. 1	256
21.1	Methodological steps in corpus research	287
21.2	Stop list for grammatical words	290
21.3	Word lists for 'Grace' and 'Captain Tom' parts of Burgess' 'Blood Story'	291
21.4	Keywords lists using BNC Baby fiction reference corpus	293

21.5	LL keyness and $p$ -value equation	293
21.6	BNC collocates for 'hide and'	298
22.1	Think-aloud protocols for L3 of 'Inversnaid'	305
22.2	Similarities and differences in protocols for L3 of 'Inversnaid'	305
22.3	Reading strategies you might find in protocols	306
22.4	Closed question types	308
22.5	Ethical considerations for reader response data collection	315