

Acknowledgments

With deep gratitude I acknowledge the colleagues, family members, friends, and teachers who have contributed in varied ways to this project. For their guidance in bringing this manuscript to publication, I am grateful to Harold Coward, Nancy Ellegate, Marilyn Silverman, and Kristin Milavec. For their generous support in gathering sources, I thank Sr. Pascaline Coff, OSB, Milo Coerper, Beatrice Bruteau, and especially Bro. Wayne Teasdale and Fr. Jesu Rajan. For their insightful responses to the written text, I am indebted to James Robertson Price III, Chester Gillis, and especially Fr. William Cenkner, OP, Fr. James Wiseman, OSB, and Victoria Urubshurow. In response to his gracious foreword and inspiration in Hindu-Christian dialogue, I thank Kenneth Cracknell. In return for their friendship and sharing of ideas, I am grateful to my past colleagues in the Theology Department of Georgetown University and in the Religion Department of Hampden-Sydney College. To my family I express my heartfelt thanks for their support, especially my grandfather, George Hann, my parents, Richard Trapnell and Jane Buck, my wife Rose, and my daughters Grace and Maria. Finally, to my teachers from “East” and “West,” I offer gratitude, especially to Sri Sri Ravi Shankar for his graceful presence and to Fr. Bede Griffiths for his time and interest in this project and for his inspiring example, the impact of which has endured beyond his death.
