

CONTENTS

Acknowledgments vii

INTRODUCTION: The Forms of Cultured Feeling 1

1

Embodying Gender: Sentimental Materialism
in the New Republic 29

2

Gender, Domesticity, and Consumption in the 1830s:
Caroline Kirkland, Catharine Sedgwick, and the Feminization of American Consumerism 88

3

Sentimental Consumption: Harriet Beecher Stowe, Nathaniel Hawthorne, and the Aesthetics of Middle-Class Ownership 135

4

Domesticating "Blackness": Harriet Jacobs,
Sojourner Truth, and the Decommodification of the Black Female Body 191

5

Fashioning a Free Self: Consumption, Politics, and Power in the Writings of Elizabeth Keckley and Frances Harper 229

6

Not "Just a Cigar": Commodity Culture and the Construction of Imperial Manhood 270

CONCLUSION 304

Notes 315

Works Cited 365

Index 383

