

Contents

ABOUT THE SERIES ix

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS xi

FOREWORD BY WALTER D. MIGNOLO xiii

INTRODUCTION

MODERNITY IN THE BALANCE, THE “TRANSGRESSIVE” ESSAY, AND DECOLONIZATION i

Modernity in the Balance 2

The “Leftward Turn” in Our Societies 6

The Conflict over Time and the “Decolonial Turn” ii

The Essay as a Transgressive Proposition 15

The Embers of the Past 24

ONE

THE CHANGING FACES OF HISTORICAL TIME 29

Tradition and Revolution 36

The Experience of the Past 38

The Horizon of Expectations 42

The Resource of the “Other” 46

TWO

IS THE NATION AN IMAGINED COMMUNITY? 57

Nationalism, Nation, and Ethnicity 59

The Nation: A Contested Concept 62

Lettered Culture 66

The Brazil of Euclides da Cunha	69
Mariátegui and the Case of Peru	74
The Persistence of "Then" within "Now"	81
On Negativity: "Multitude," "Subalternity," and "Pueblo"	84

THREE

"NOW TIME": SUBALTERN PASTS AND CONTESTED HISTORICISM 97

The Hidden Face of Modernity	98
The Need to "Provincialize" Europe	103
The "Time of the Now": Messianism and Redemption	107
The Secular and the Supernatural	113
On Complementarity and Reciprocity	118
The Problems of Translation	127
A "Culture of Integration"	133
By Way of Conclusion	138

FOUR

THE DIMENSIONS OF THE NATION AND THE DISPLACEMENTS OF SOCIAL METAPHOR IN BOLIVIA 143

The Nation's Developmentalist and Pedagogical Dimension	144
The Nation's Two Faces	146
Metaphors about "National Pedagogy"	149
Deterritorialization and Metaphors of Flowing	158
The Metaphor of the Amphibian	168
Plurinational State or Intractable State?	172

NOTES	183
REFERENCES	197
INDEX	209