

CONTENTS

Acknowledgments ix

List of Abbreviations xi

Introduction 1

PART I ■ A Long Time Coming: Roots of Dissent and Opposition in the German Democratic Republic 27

1. The Troubled Emergence of an Idea 35

Frank Eigenfeld, New Forum, and Harald Wagner, Democracy Now 35 Rainer Eppelmann, Protestant pastor, prominent oppositionist 55 Cornelia Matzke, Independent Women's Alliance 67 Ludwig Mehlhorn, Opposition theorist 76 Hans Modrow, Last communist prime minister 89

2. The Party, the Workers, and Opposition Intellectuals 97

Werner Bramke, Party academic 97 East German Workers, Joint interview 111 Bärbel Bohley, "Mother of the revolution" 131

3. The Many Meanings of "Reform" 140

Klaus Kaden, Church emissary to the opposition 140 Sebastian Pflugbeil, Democratic strategist 160 Gerhard Ruden, Environmental activist 165 André Brie, Party vice-chairman 171 Ingrid Köppe, Opposition representative at the Central Round Table 181

PART II ■ Democracy—Now or Never 195

4. Struggles with Self-Censorship:

Deciding How Much to Seek 209

Ludwig Mehlhorn 209 Klaus Kaden 217 Frank Eigenfeld 224
Harald Wagner 224 Rainer Eppelmann 236 Cornelia Matzke 246

5. The Constraints of a Party-Centered Perspective 254

Hans Modrow 254 Werner Bramke 262 André Brie 270

6. Workers in the “Workers’ State” 280

East German Workers, Joint interview 280 Wolfgang K., Newly elected union secretary 287

7. Democratic Visions: A Question of Scope,

A Question of Possibility 292

Bärbel Bohley 292 Sebastian Pflugbeil 303 Ingrid Köppe 319

PART III ■ Taking Stock:

The Search for a Historical Perspective 329

8. Between Opportunity and Failure 351

Sebastian Pflugbeil 351 Klaus Kaden 353 Frank Eigenfeld,
Harald Wagner 356 Bärbel Bohley 360 Hans Modrow 362 Werner
Bramke 363 André Brie 366 Ludwig Mehlhorn 368
Wolfgang K. 380

Epilogue 382

Chronology of East German History, 1945–1990 385

Selected Bibliography 402

Index 411