

Acknowledgments

I wish to thank Tani Barlow, Jeff Escoffier, and Steve Martinot for critical reading of an earlier draft of the manuscript, especially Tani who helped me revise it several times; Ava Baron and Aihwa Ong for reading lists on gender construction; Richard Busacca for a discussion on exchange theory; Gilles Deleuze and Felix Guattari for the stimulation of Anti-Oedipus; Judith Farquhar for leads on schizophrenia; Donna Haraway for inspiration on the cyborg body; Thomas Laqueur who alerted me to Barbara Duden's bibliography; John Miller for a lead on political economy; Ilene Philipson and Jeff Escoffier for readings on mental health professions; Scott Sereno for materials on advertising; members of the former Bay Area reading group on Marxism and semiotics; my former students at San Francisco State University; the undersupported History Department of that underfinanced university, for giving me some release time for researching and writing the book; the interlibrary loan service at the San Francisco State University Library; and Ken Wissoker for shepherding the manuscript through the review process.

