

CONTENTS

INTRODUCTION
Commodity Chains in Theory and in Latin American History Steven Topik, Carlos Marichal, and Zephyr Frank	1
1 The Spanish-American Silver Peso: Export Commodity and Global Money of the Ancien Regime, 1550–1800 Carlos Marichal	25
2 Indigo Commodity Chains in the Spanish and British Empires, 1560–1860 David McCreery	53
3 Mexican Cochineal and the European Demand for American Dyes, 1550–1850 Carlos Marichal	76
4 Colonial Tobacco: Key Commodity of the Spanish Empire, 1500–1800 Laura Nater	93
5 The Latin American Coffee Commodity Chain: Brazil and Costa Rica Steven Topik and Mario Samper	118
6 Trade Regimes and the International Sugar Market, 1850–1980: Protectionism, Subsidies, and Regulation Horacio Crespo	147
7 The Local and the Global: Internal and External Factors in the Development of Bahia's Cacao Sector Mary Ann Mahony	174
8 Banana Boats and Baby Food: The Banana in U.S. History Marcelo Bucheli and Ian Read	204
9 The Fertilizer Commodity Chains: Guano and Nitrate, 1840–1930 Rory Miller and Robert Greenhill	228
10 Brazil in the International Rubber Trade, 1870–1930 Zephyr Frank and Aldo Musacchio	271
11 Reports of Its Demise Are Not Exaggerated: The Life and Times of Yucatecan Henequen Allen Wells	300
12 Cocaine in Chains: The Rise and Demise of a Global Commodity, 1860–1950 Paul Gootenberg	321
CONCLUSION
Commodity Chains and Globalization in Historical Perspective Carlos Marichal, Steven Topik, and Zephyr Frank	352
CONTRIBUTORS	361
INDEX	365

