

Contents

|             |                                                                                                                                |
|-------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| xi   | About the Series                                                                                                               |
| xiii | Acknowledgments                                                                                                                |
| xv   | Author's Note                                                                                                                  |
| 1    | Prologue: Sin padre                                                                                                     |
| 3    | México lindo y queridoDearest and beloved Mexico                                                                    |
| 41   | ¿A donde iran los muertos?Quién sabe a donde iranWhere will the dead go?Who knows where they will go |
| 81   | Buscando abrigo y no lo encontraranSearching for shelter they will never find                                       |
| 139  | Que lejos estoy del suelo donde he nacidoSo far from the land that gave me birth                                    |
| 159  | She kept her head in a jar by the doorMantuvo su cabeza en el jarrón junto a la puerta                              |
| 185  | Epilogue: Purging the Skeletons, Bone by Bone                                                                                  |
| 199  | Songs Quoted in Text                                                                                                           |
| 201  | Glossary                                                                                                                       |

