

Contents ㄣ

Preface	ix
Introduction: Henry James and Critical Theory	i
1 Swept Away: Henry James, Margaret Fuller, and “The Last of the Valerii”	38
2 A Phantom of the Opera: Christopher Newman’s Unconscious in The American	56
3 Acting Lessons: Racial, Sexual, and Aesthetic Politics in The Tragic Muse	75
4 Textual Preference: James’s Literary Defenses against Sexuality in “The Middle Years” and “The Death of the Lion”	101
5 The Portrait of a Small Boy as a Young Girl: Gender Trouble in What Maisie Knew	120
6 Spectral Mechanics: Gender, Sexuality, and Work in In the Cage	155
Conclusion: Henry James and the Art of Teaching	181
Notes	199
Index	233

