

Contents

Foreword	vii
Acknowledgments	ix
Introduction	xi
Part I Modern Life in the Colonial Period	I
1 The First Urbanization	3
2 The Genesis of Urban Housing	23
3 Architecture and the Introduction of New Materials	36
Part II Searching for Identity in the Developmental Period	49
4 Urban Expansion and the Construction Boom	51
5 New Urban Housing	70
6 The Quest for Architectural Identity	81
7 The Semantics of Technology	97
Part III From Modernization to Globalization	109
8 Discovering Reality	111
9 New Paradigms for Urban Design	126
Epilogue: A Correlative Architecture between the Void and the Solid	142
Appendix: Profiles of Korean Architects and Planners	145
Notes	153
Bibliography	167
Index	185

