

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

This book originated from a conference held in Paris in October 2014 as a part of the international research project “Buddhism after Mao: Religion, Power, and Society in China since 1980.” We are extremely grateful to the “Emergence(s)” program of the City of Paris for its funding of this conference and the Sheng Yen Education Foundation for its publication grant. We would like to thank all participants and discussants of the conference, especially Vincent Goossaert, Adam Yuet Chau, Nicolas Sihlé, and Vincent Durand-Dastès, for their insightful comments. We thank also the anonymous manuscript reviewers whose remarks helped us to greatly improve our work. Finally, we would like to express our gratitude to the Institut National des Langues et Civilisations Orientales (INALCO); the Groupe Sociétés, Religions, Laïcités (GSRL); and the Centre d’Etudes Interdisciplinaires sur le Bouddhisme (CEIB) for their administrative support during different stages of the production of this book and the editors of the University of Hawai‘i Press for their efficiency and professionalism.
