

ILLUSTRATIONS

- Fig. 2.1 Diagram of the naganam mandala from the Tamra phichai songkhram
- Fig. 2.2 Diagram of the Traiphum, showing the upper levels of the world of desire (kammaphum) and the four continents surrounding Mount Meru
- Fig. 2.3 Map of Bangkok, ca. 1900, showing the Grand Palace at the center of the concentric mandala and the new grid of the suburb of Dusit
- Fig. 3.1 Illustration of the Ghee Hin secret society lodge in Singapore, ca. nineteenth century
- Fig. 3.2 Diagram of the Hong Gate
- Fig. 3.3 Diagrams of the Gates to the Hall of Fidelity and Loyalty and the City of Willows
- Fig. 3.4 Diagram of the nine-story pagoda in the City of Willows
- Fig. 3.5 Diagram of the main altar at the heart of the City of Willows and the hongmen lodge
- Fig. 3.6 Drawing of the uposot of Wat Chan, Phetchaburi Province in the Baeb nawakam
- Fig. 3.7 Illustration from the Traiphum/Dhammasangani manuscript attributed to Nai Sun
- Fig. 3.8 The Glorious City of Nibbāna (Die erhabene Stadt Nibaphan), from the Traiphum manuscript, ca. 1776
- Fig. 3.9 Finial designs from the Baeb nawakam
- Fig. 4.1 Dusit Thani: Muang Prachathiptai, the miniature city of King Vajiravudh in Dusit Palace, ca. 1918
- Fig. 4.2 Ananta Samakhom Throne Hall, Bangkok, 1907–1915
- Fig. 4.3 Wat Thammathiptai, National Library Complex, Bangkok
- Fig. 4.4 The Royal Palace at Dusit Thani, National Library Complex, Bangkok
- Fig. 4.5 Theoatchamthan Throne Hall, National Library Complex, Bangkok
- Fig. 4.6 “The History of Debate,” Dusit samit, National Library of Thailand

- Fig. 4.7 Phraratchawang Angkrit (the English Palace) and Khonthapnatsala Theater at Dusit Thani
- Fig. 4.8 Pavilion in the Roman garden, Phya Thai Palace, Bangkok, ca. 1920
- Fig. 5.1 Crematorium of King Vajiravudh, Bangkok, 1925
- Fig. 5.2 Crematorium of the soldiers who sacrificed their lives defending the constitution, Bangkok, ca. 1934
- Fig. 5.3 Mahāparinibbāna, or the ascension of the Buddha to nibbāna, bay ten, Uposot Hall, Wat Thongthammachat, Thonburi, ca. eighteenth century
- Fig. 5.4 Cremation of the Buddha with various leisure entertainments, bay eleven, Uposot Hall, Wat Thongthammachat, Thonburi, ca. eighteenth century
- Fig. 5.5 Elevation of the crematorium (phra merumat) of King Vajiravudh, ca. 1925
- Fig. 5.6 Plan of the phra merumat of King Vajiravudh, ca. 1925
- Fig. 5.7 Flat-roofed crematorium of the soldiers who sacrificed their lives for the constitution, Bangkok, 1933
- Fig. 5.8 Thailand's first constitution on a gold offering tray (phan ratthathammanun)
- Fig. 5.9 Public exhibition of the "permanent" constitution on a gold offering tray (phan ratthathammanun) in front of the Ananta Samakhom Throne Hall, Bangkok, 1907–1915
- Fig. 5.10 Monument to the Defense of the Constitution, Bang Khen, 1936
- Fig. 6.1 Sala Chaloem Krung, Bangkok, 1932
- Fig. 6.2 Construction plan for Nai Adrin's cinema in Phrapradaeng, 1916
- Fig. 6.3 Sala Chaloem Thani cinema in Nang Loeng, built in 1918
- Fig. 6.4 Elevations, plan, and sectional drawing of Sombathip theater of Nai Kao Klinchampi in Minburi, 1928
- Fig. 6.5 Plan of the auditorium of the Sala Chaloem Krung, showing the steel-frame structure that allowed for an unobstructed view of the screen
- Fig. 6.6 Interior of the Sala Chaloem Krung auditorium
- Fig. 6.7 A royal garuda guards the entrance to the Sala Chaloem Krung
- Fig. 6.8 An abstract version of King Prajadhipok's royal seal, the phrasaengson, above the entrance to the Sala Chaloem Krung
- Fig. 6.9 Perforated copper light screen of Hanuman, a key protagonist in the Ramakian, on the facade of the Sala Chaloem Krung
- Fig. 6.10 Perforated copper light screens of characters in the Ramakian in the lobby of the Sala Chaloem Krung
- Fig. 7.1 Cho fa finials on the roof of Wat Phra Sri Rachanaddaram
- Fig. 7.2 Manuscript illustration of Phra Malai (1868) depicting Phra Malai conversing with Indra in front of the Culamaniya Cetiya and Metteya descending with entourage from the Tayatimsa heaven
- Fig. 7.3 Sepulchral room topped with a pagoda by Phra Phromphichit, from a manual produced by the Department of Fine Arts in 1940

- Fig. 7.4 The Sawasdisopha gate at the Grand Palace, Bangkok, 1936
- Fig. 7.5 The Phra Maha Chedi Song Sri Suriyothai at Wat Phra Chetuphon (Wat Pho), Bangkok, ca. 1859
- Fig. 7.6 One of three proposals submitted for Anusawari Thai (Thai Monument)
- Fig. 7.7 A proposal for Anusawari Thai (Thai Monument)
- Fig. 7.8 A third proposal for Anusawari Thai (Thai Monument), which shows the location of the dance hall, restaurant, museum, and conference center within the monument
- Fig. 7.9 Victory Monument, Bangkok, 1942, commemorating the 1941 “victory” of Thailand over France
- Fig. 7.10 Democracy Monument (Anusawari Prachathipatai), Bangkok, 1939
- Fig. 7.11 Phiman Mulpramuk, maquette for Warrior, 1937
- Fig. 7.12 Garuda on the facade of the General Post Office, Bangkok, 1939
- Fig. 7.13 The ideal family poses in front of their modern home, ca. 1941
- Fig. 7.14 Sitthidet Saenghiran’s maquette for a sculpture of an ideal Thai family, 1940
- Fig. 7.15 Plan and elevation drawing of Wat Phra Sri Mahathat (then Wat Prachathiptai) by Phra Phromphichit, ca. 1939
- Fig. 7.16 Aerial view of the chedi at Wat Phra Sri Mahathat
- Fig. 7.17 Elevation and section of the chedi of Wat Phra Sri Mahathat, 1940
- Fig. 7.18 Light from clerestory windows illuminates the interior of the chedi of Wat Phra Sri Mahathat
- Fig. 7.19 Crypts of leaders of the People’s Party in the wall of the chedi of Wat Phra Sri Mahathat
- Fig. 7.20 Gable end of the uposot hall at Wat Phra Sri Mahathat with figure of Arunthepbut
- Fig. 7.21 Arunthepbut on the lintel of the Democracy Monument
- Fig. 7.22 Page from Muang thai magazine, depicting the ceremony at the Democracy Monument on Constitution Day, 1941
- Fig. 8.1 Map 13 of the Greater Bangkok Plan 2533
- Fig. 8.2 Siam Intercontinental Hotel (Bangkok, 1966)
- Fig. 8.3 Dusit Thani hotel, Bangkok, 1970, and monument to King Vajiravudh
- Fig. 8.4 The Indra Regent Hotel, Bangkok, 1970
- Fig. 8.5 Postcard depicting the Sukhothai-style poolside restaurant at the Indra Regent Hotel
- Fig. 8.6 Parking bay of a rong raem man rud on Soi Ruam Rudi, ca. 1970
- Fig. 8.7 Plan of Hotel 999, based on fire map
- Fig. 8.8 “Mercedes brick” ventilation device at former rong raem man rud on Sukhumvit Soi 1

