
CONTENTS

Acknowledgements	vi
Introduction
1 Transmitting Loss	3
2 Comparing the Incomparable: The Third Reich and a Phase of Maoism	20
3 'Communism' in Mainland China and Taiwan: Official transmission of the Great Leap Famine and of the White Terror	43
Part I The Great Leap Famine
4 Moral and Political Dilemmas from the Great Leap Famine	71
5 Implicit Transmission: The Generation Gap after the Great Leap Famine	92
Part II The Luku Incident of the White Terror
6 Disruption, Commemoration and Family Repair in Taiwan	113
7 Gesture and Monument in a Tourist Landscape: The Generation Gap in Taiwan	136
Part III The Third Reich
8 Acknowledgement of the Third Reich in Postwar Germany	153
9 Disruption, Commemoration and Family Repair: Some Jewish German Families	174
10 Recalling the Third Reich and the Holocaust after Two Generations: Some German German Families	190
Conclusion
11 Beyond Bad Death	209
References	228
Index	235