

≈ CONTENTS ≈

List of Figures	vii
Introduction. After The History of Sexuality? Periodicities, Subjectivities, Ethics Scott Spector	1
 I. When Was Sexuality? Rethinking Periodization
Chapter 1. After the History of (Male) Homosexuality Helmut Puff	17
Chapter 2. Sexual Identity and Other Aspects of “Modern” Sexuality: New Chronologies, Same Old Problem? Merry Wiesner-Hanks	31
Chapter 3. Interior States and Sexuality in Early Modern Germany Ulinka Rublack	43
Chapter 4. Saying It with Flowers: Post-Foucauldian Literary History and the Poetics of Taboo in a Premodern German Love Song (Walther von der Vogelweide’s “Lindenlied”) Andreas Krass	63
Chapter 5. Early Nineteenth-Century Sexual Radicalism: Heinrich Hössli and the Liberals of His Day Robert Deam Tobin	76
 II. Whose Sexuality? Subjectivity, Surveillance, Emancipation
Chapter 6. Anna Rüling, Michel Foucault, and the “Tactical Polyvalence” of the Female Homosexual Kirsten Leng	95
Chapter 7. To Police and Protect: The Surveillance of Homosexuality in Imperial Berlin Robert Beachy	109

Chapter 8. Soliciting Fantasies: Knowing and Not Knowing about Male Prostitution by Soldiers in Imperial Germany Jeffrey Schneider	124
Chapter 9. Between Normalization and Resistance: Prostitutes' Professional Identities and Political Organization in Weimar Germany Julia Roos	139
Chapter 10. Writing Love, Feeling Shame: Rethinking Respectability in the Weimar Homosexual Women's Movement Marti M. Lybeck	156
Chapter 11. Transsexual: Herculine Barbin Meets "Liebe Marta" Philipp Sarasin	169
 III. The Politics of Sexual Ethics
Chapter 12. Beyond Freedom: A Return to Subjectivity in the History of Sexuality Tracie Matysik	185
Chapter 13. Homosexuality in the Sexual Ethics of the 1930s: A Values Debate in the Culture Wars between Conservatism, Liberalism, and Moral-National Renewal Andreas Pretzel	202
Chapter 14. Socialist Eugenics and Homosexuality in the GDR: The Case of Günter Dörner Florian G. Mildenberger	216
Chapter 15. Sex, Sentiment, and Socialism: Relationship Counseling in the GDR in the Wake of the 1965 Family Law Code Erik Huneke	231
Chapter 16. Longing, Lust, Violence, Liberation: Discourses on Sexuality on the Radical Left in West Germany, 1969–1972 Massimo Perinelli	248
Postscript. Tomorrow Sex Will Be Good Again Dagmar Herzog	282
Select Bibliography	287
Contributors	298