

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

The project that introduced the idea of the post-cosmopolitan city and that led to this book was generously supported by an AHRC grant for speculative research (2005–2006) and the Centre for History and Economics at King's College, Cambridge. Our subsequent long-term ethnographic research in Odessa, Ukraine was made possible by the AHRC programme 'Migration, Diaspora and Identity' designed by Professor Kim Knott. Various conferences organised within the framework of the programme enabled us to discuss our ideas on post-cosmopolitanism at interdisciplinary fora and to meet some of the contributors to this volume. We are grateful to Katie Roche for facilitating our participation in these events.

