

ILLUSTRATIONS

FIGURES

1.1	The Social Enhancement Model of Music	7
1.2	A Hierarchical View of Musical Semantics	15
6.1	Music as Knowledge, Knowledge about Music, and Musical Manipulation	167
6.2	“Male” and “Female” Responses	174
6.3	Some Musical Characteristics of “Male” and “Female” Tunes in the Test	175
6.4	Polarities of Gender Hypothesized from Characteristics Listed in Figure 6.2	175
6.5	Visual-Verbal Associations to “Male” and “Female” Tunes in Order of Responses Frequency	176
8.1	The Elaboration Likelihood Model of Persuasion	212
8.2	A Model of the Effects of Advertising Music	214
8.3	The “Self-Assessment Manikin” of Morris and Boone	219
8.4	The Effect of Jingles on Brand Recall	221
8.5	Development of Product Recognition Using Either Verbal or Musical Cues in a Nine-Month Tracking Study	223
8.6	Classical Conditioning of Product Preferences Using Music	226
8.7	Classical Conditioning with Advertising Music	227
8.8	The Effect of Music on Purchasing Intentions	230
11.1	The Music Industry Value Chain: From Composer to Consumer	293
11.2	Demands on Collecting Societies	297
11.3	The Origins and Flows of Different Types of IPR Revenues	298
11.4	A Traditional View of the Role of Collecting Societies as Intermediaries	301
11.5	Vertical Integration Involving the Dominance of Large Media Corporations	302
11.6	A Fair Distribution of IPR Incomes?	307