

CONTENTS

List of Abbreviations	ix
Introduction
David E. Barclay and Eric D. Weitz	1
Chapter 1
Diagnosing the “German Misery”: Radicalism and the Problem of National Character, 1830 to 1848 Warren Breckman	33
Chapter 2
Working-Class Politics at the Crossroads of Conservatism, Liberalism, and Socialism Hermann Beck	63
Chapter 3
The Lassallean Labor Movement in Germany: Organization, Social Structure, and Associational Life in the 1860s Toni Offermann	87
Chapter 4
Bürger and Workers: Liberalism and the Labor Movement in Germany, 1848 to 1914 Ralf Roth	113

Chapter 5
"Genossen und Genossinnen": Depictions of Gender, Militancy, and Organizing in the German Socialist Press, 1890-1914
Mary Jo Maynes	141
Chapter 6
The Social Democratic Electorate in Imperial Germany
Jonathan Sperber	167
Chapter 7
Latent Reformism and Socialist Utopia: The SPD in Göttingen, 1890 to 1920
Adelheid von Saldern	195
Chapter 8
A Social Republic? Social Democrats, Communists, and the Weimar Welfare State, 1919 to 1933
David F. Crew	223
Chapter 9
The Iron Front: Weimar Social Democracy between Tradition and Modernity
Donna Harsch	251
Chapter 10
Communism and the Public Spheres of Weimar Germany
Eric D. Weitz	275
Chapter 11
The Rise and Fall of Red Saxony
William Carl Mathews	293
Chapter 12
Cultural Socialism, the Public Sphere, and the Mass Form: Popular Culture and the Democratic Project, 1900 to 1934
Geoff Eley	315
Chapter 13
The Social Origins of Unity Sentiments in the German Socialist Underground, 1933 to 1936
Gerd-Rainer Horn	341

Chapter 14

Communist Resistance between Comintern Directives
and Nazi Terror

Beatrix Herlemann 357

Chapter 15

Rethinking Social Democracy, the State, and Europe:
Rudolf Hilferding in Exile, 1933 to 1941

David E. Barclay 373

Chapter 16

Ordnungsmacht and Mitbestimmung: The Postwar
Labor Unions and the Politics of Reconstruction

Diethelm Prowe 397

Chapter 17

The Soviets, the German Left, and the Problem of “Sectarianism” in the Eastern Zone, 1945 to 1949

Norman Naimark 421

Chapter 18

Pronatalism, Nationbuilding, and Socialism:
Population Policy in the SBZ/DDR, 1945 to 1960

Atina Grossmann 443

Chapter 19

German Social Democracy and European Unification,
1945 to 1955

Dietrich Orlow 467

Chapter 20

The Politics of Culture and the Culture of Everyday Life
in the DDR in the 1950s

Anna-Sabine Ernst 489

Chapter 21

Social Democratic Gender Policies, the Working-Class
Milieu, and the Culture of Domesticity in West
Germany in the 1950s and 1960s

Hanna Schissler 507

Chapter 22

Is the SPD Still a Labor Party? From “Community of Solidarity” to “Loosely Coupled Anarchy”

Peter Lösche

531

Chapter 23

Good-bye to All That: The Passing of German Communism
and the Rise of a New New Left

Eric D. Weitz

547

Selective Bibliography

557

List of Contributors

567

Index

571