

Contents

List of Figures	vii
Notes on Contributors	viii
Acknowledgments	xi
Introduction: Ahead of the Curve	I
Susan Santha Kerns
Part 1 Building a Foundation
1 The Making of Ms. Right: Susan Seidelman and the Persistence of “Women’s Films”	II
Maya Montañez Smukler
2 Susan Seidelman’s Sex and the City : TV Authorship and Feminist Possibility	28
Elizabeth Alsop
3 “I’ve Always Been a Voyeur”: An Interview with Susan Seidelman	45
Susan Santha Kerns
Part 2 Embodied Spaces
4 “Who is This?” Smithereens , Susan Seidelman’s Auspicious Debut Feature	69
Susan Santha Kerns
5 Swapping the Suburban Housewife for the NYC Feminist: Susan Seidelman and her Personas	85
Ruth Wollersheim
6 Original She-Devil Ending Screenplay Pages	105
7 Unsettling Domesticity: Desperately Seeking Susan , Madonna and the Voyeuristic Politics of MTV Stardom	111
Michael Reinhard

8	Directing a City: Susan Seidelman's New York Josephine Maria Yanasak-Leszczynski	127
9	Making Frankie Stone: Feminism, Post-Romance and Making Mr. Right Vanessa Cambier	141
Part 3 Making Room
10	Electric Melodrama: Susan Seidelman, Childhood and the Girl Next Door Debbie Olson	159
11	Age, Disability and Agency in the Late-Period Films of Susan Seidelman Cole Bradley	171
12	And You Can Dance! Movement, Mobility and Magic in Musical Chairs Warren Holmes	185
13	Death, Illusion and the Hijab in Susan Seidelman's Cut in Half Stacy Thompson	200
Bibliography		216
Index		226