

Figures and tables

Figures

2.1	Correspondence analysis of the corpus	47
2.2	Progression charts of ‘will’, ‘must’ and ‘should’ in press releases (left) and reports (right)	49
3.1	The distribution of populis* in the French dataset	65
3.2	The distribution of populis* in the Spanish dataset	65
6.1	Break In (00.00.05)	133
6.2	Break In (00.00.13)	136
6.3	Cards (00.00.20)	137
6.4	Break In (00.00.21)	138
6.5	Break In (00.00.24)	138
7.1	(Non-)metaphoric and metonymic uses of some key concepts	152
7.2	Bar plot of lexical foregrounding and backgrounding in the corpus	162

Tables

1.1	Xi Jinping Corpus details	32
2.1	Summary of the contents of the corpus	45
2.2	Lists of the ten most frequent verbs used with ‘must’, ‘should’ and ‘will’ ordered by frequency	50
4.1	Epistemic and effective stance: Categories and expressions	91
4.2	Epistemic and effective stance in speeches: May vs Johnson vs Conservatives (N and ratio per thousand words) ($\chi^2 = 23.6065$; p-value < 0.00001)	93
4.3	Categories of epistemic stance in speeches: May vs Johnson vs Conservatives (N and ratio per ten thousand words)	94
4.4	Categories of effective stance in speeches: May vs Johnson vs Conservatives (N and ratio per ten thousand words)	95

7.1	Metaphoric and metonymic uses of Homeland , State , Country and Nation	153
8.1	Nouns and adjectives in the slot (COCA)	174
8.2	Nouns in the slot (COCA)	175
8.3	Nouns and adjectives in the slot of 'play the X card' (COCA)	183