

Contents

List of Tables and Figures	vii
List of Contributors	x
Preface and Acknowledgements	xiv
Introduction: Media Effects in British Electoral Politics Daniel Stevens, Susan Banducci, Laszlo Horvath and Ekaterina Kolpinskaya	1
1. The 2015–2019 British General Elections in Broadcast and Print News: Topics, Actors and Sentiments Laszlo Horvath and Ekaterina Kolpinskaya	21
2. Intermedia Agenda-setting in the 2015, 2017 and 2019 General Elections Daniel Stevens, Susan Banducci, Laszlo Horvath and Ekaterina Kolpinskaya	34
3. Flows of Information in Election Campaigns: Who Influences Whom? Charlotte James, Susan Banducci and Iulia Cioroianu	60
4. Ageing and Agenda-setting in the 2015, 2017 and 2019 General Elections Daniel Stevens, Shukru Esmene, Catherine Leyshon and Michael Leyshon	83
5. Media Partisanship, Issue Coverage and Individuals' Perceptions of Issue Stance Importance Daniel Ziebarth	109

6. Chucking Britain into the Cor-bin?: Newspapers and Perceptions of Party Leaders in the 2017 and 2019 General Elections Daniel Stevens	131
7. Candidate Experience and the ‘Gender Penalty’ in the 2019 General Election Kiran Arabaghatta Basavaraj, Patrick English and Susan Banducci	159
8. How does Media Exposure to Candidates with Shared Gender and Ethnicity Impact Individuals’ Political Engagement? Amanda Haraldsson	183
9. Constituency Competitiveness and Candidate Coverage: Exploring the Gendered Sentiment of News Media during Recent British General Elections Hannah Bunting and Laszlo Horvath	205
Concluding Thoughts: Emerging Trends in Political Communication and Electoral Politics in Britain Daniel Stevens, Susan Banducci, Laszlo Horvath and Ekaterina Kolpinskaya	219
Appendices	233
Index	251