

Contents

---

|                                                                        |     |
|------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|
| Preface                                                         | vii |
| List of Contributors                                            | ix  |
| Introduction                                                    | 3   |
| David Heyd                                                      |     |
| 1. Toleration: An Impossible Virtue?                                   | 18  |
| Bernard Williams                                                |     |
| 2. Toleration as a Virtue                                              | 28  |
| John Horton                                                     |     |
| 3. Tolerance, Pluralism, and Relativism                                | 44  |
| Gordon Graham                                                   |     |
| 4. Pluralism and the Community of Moral Judgment                       | 60  |
| Barbara Herman                                                  |     |
| 5. Two Models of Pluralism and Tolerance                               | 81  |
| Will Kymlicka                                                   |     |
| 6. Autonomy, Toleration, and Group Rights: A Response to Will Kymlicka | 106 |
| Moshe Halbertal                                                 |     |
| 7. The Boundaries of Justifiable Tolerance: A Liberal Perspective      | 114 |
| Alon Harel                                                      |     |
| 8. Toleration and the Struggle against Prejudice                       | 127 |
| David A. J. Richards                                            |     |
| 9. The Ring: On Religious Pluralism                                    | 147 |
| Avishai Margalit                                                |     |
| 10. The Instability of Tolerance                                       | 158 |
| George P. Fletcher                                              |     |
| 11. Freedom of Expression                                              | 173 |
| Joshua Cohen                                                    |     |
| 12. The Difficulty of Tolerance                                        | 226 |
| T. M. Scanlon                                                   |     |
| Index of Names and Cases                                        | 241 |

