

CONTENTS

LIST OF ILLUSTRATIONS xiii

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS xv

INTRODUCTION

Slumming: Eros and Altruism in Victorian London 1

Slumming Defined 6

Who Went Slumming? Sources and Social Categories 10

Eros and Altruism: James Hinton and the Hintonians 14

PART ONE: INCOGNITOS, FICTIONS, AND CROSS-CLASS MASQUERADES 23

CHAPTER ONE

Workhouse Nights: Homelessness, Homosexuality, and Cross-Class Masquerades 25

James Greenwood and London in 1866 31

Reading “A Night in a Workhouse” 36

Responses to “A Night in a Workhouse” 46

Homelessness as Homosexuality: Sexology, Social Policy, and the 1898 Vagrancy Act 70

Postscript: Legacies of “A Night” on Representations of the Homeless Poor 74

CHAPTER TWO

Dr. Barnardo’s Artistic Fictions: Photography, Sexuality, and the Ragged Child 88

Facts, Fictions, and Epistemologies of Welfare 94

“The Very Wicked Woman” and “Sodomany” in

Dr. Barnardo’s Boys’ Home 103

Representing the Ragged Child 112

Joseph Merrick and the Monstrosity of Poverty 124

Conclusion 129

CHAPTER THREE

The American Girl in London: Gender, Journalism, and Social Investigation in the Late Victorian Metropolis 140

Journalism as Autobiography, Autobiography as Fiction 142

Gender and Journalism 151

An “American Girl” Impersonating London’s
 Laboring Women	155
Conclusion	177

PART TWO: CROSS-CLASS SISTERHOOD AND
BROTHERHOOD IN THE SLUMS 181

CHAPTER FOUR

The Politics and Erotics of Dirt: Cross-Class Sisterhood
in the Slums 183

Cross-Class Sisterhood and the Politics of Dirt	184
“There will be something the matter with the ladies”	198
“Nasty Books”: Dirty Bodies, Dirty Desires in
 Women’s Slum Novels	204
Conclusion: “White Gloves” and “Dirty Hoxton Pennies”	222

CHAPTER FIVE

The “New Man” in the Slums: Religion, Masculinity, and the Men’s Settlement House Movement 228

The Sources of “Brotherhood” in Late Victorian England	231
“Modern Monasteries,” “Philanthropic Brotherhoods,”
 and the Origins of the Settlement House Movement	236
Religion and Codes of Masculinity	248
“True hermaphrodites realised at last”: Sexing the
 Male Settlement Movement	259
A Door Unlocked: The Politics of Brotherly Love in the Slums	276

CONCLUSION 282

MANUSCRIPT SOURCES 289

NOTES 293

INDEX 379