

Contents

Foreword to the English Edition	page	xi
Introduction		1
1. “Heathen Barbarians” overrun Europe: Evidence from St Gallen		7
2. Land Acquisition or Conquest? The Question of Hungarian Identity		12
3. From Magyar Mayhem to the Christian Kingdom of the Árpáds		27
4. The Struggle for Continuity and Freedom		38
5. The Mongol Invasion of 1241 and its Consequences		49
6. Hungary’s Rise to Great Power Status under Foreign Kings		62
7. The Heroic Age of the Hunyadis and the Turkish Danger		75
8. The Long Road to the Catastrophe of Mohács		86
9. The Disaster of Ottoman Rule		94
10. Transylvania—the Stronghold of Hungarian Sovereignty		106
11. Gábor Bethlen—Vassal, Patriot and European		114
12. Zrínyi or Zrinski? One Hero for Two Nations		126
13. The Kuruc Leader Thököly: Adventurer or Traitor?		137
14. Ferenc Rákóczi’s Fight for Freedom from the Habsburgs		145
15. Myth and Historiography: an Idol through the Ages		155
16. Hungary in the Habsburg Shadow		160
17. The Fight Against the “Hatted King”		177
18. Abbot Martinovics and the Jacobin Plot		183

19. Count István Széchenyi and the “Reform Era”: the “Greatest Hungarian”	191
20. Lajos Kossuth and Sándor Petöfi: Symbols of 1848	206
21. Victories, Defeat and Collapse: the Lost War of Independence, 1849	222
22. Kossuth the Hero versus “Judas” Görgey: “Good” and “Bad” in Sacrificial Mythology	242
23. Who was Captain Gusev? Russian “Freedom Fighters” between Minsk and Budapest	260
24. Elisabeth, Andrássy and Bismarck: Austria and Hungary on the Road to Reconciliation	266
25. Victory in Defeat: the Compromise and the Consequences of Dualism	281
26. Total Blindness: The Hungarian Sense of Mission and the Nationalities	299
27. The “Golden Age” of the Millennium: Modernization with Drawbacks	310
28. “Magyar Jew or Jewish Magyar?” A Unique Symbiosis	329
29. “Will Hungary be German or Magyar?” The Germans’ Peculiar Role	348
30. From the Great War to the “Dictatorship of Despair”: the Red Count and Lenin’s Agent	356
31. The Admiral on a White Horse: Trianon and the Death Knell of St Stephen’s Realm	373
32. Adventurers, Counterfeitors, Claimants to the Throne: Hungary as Troublemaker in the Danube Basin	389
33. Marching in Step with Hitler: Triumph and Fall. From the Persecution of Jews to Mob Rule	406
34. Victory in Defeat: 1945–1990	427
35. “Everyone is a Hungarian”: Geniuses and Artists	466
Summing-up	504
Notes	508
Chronology of Significant Events in Hungarian History	533
Index	557