
• C O N T E N T S •

LIST OF TABLES	ix
FOREWORD	xi
ACKNOWLEDGMENTS	xv
A NOTE ON TRANSLITERATION	xix
INTRODUCTION	3
Egypt and Popular Political Expression	5
The Context and Approach of the Study	17
CHAPTER 1
The Family, Politics, and the Familial Ethos	41
The Public/Private Dichotomy and Political Participation	44
Patrimonialism, the Family, and Participation in a Middle Eastern Context	45
The Familial Ethos	49
Conclusion: An Ethos beyond the Household	71
CHAPTER 2
Reproducing the Family	74
Choosing a Mate: "Shababiik, shababiik, 'id-dunya kullaha shababiik"	77
Marriage Protocol, or the Rules of Engagement	85
Sexuality and the Transgression of Public Norms	92
The Cost of Marriage: An Economic Nightmare	109
Raising the Capital to Marry	121
Conclusions: Marriage, the Economy, and the State	126
CHAPTER 3
Networks: The Political Lifeline of Community	132
Earning a Living	138
Development: Education Networks	160
The Bureaucracy and the State	164
Conclusion	171
CHAPTER 4
Informality: Politics and Economics in Tandem	173
Informal and Formal Economic Activity in a Sha'bi Community	179
Family Enterprises	199
Informality Meets the State	205
The Sha'b and Informality: Wages and Wealth	231
Informality: The Economic and Political Consequences for the Nation	238

CHAPTER 5
Politics as Distribution	244
Private Voluntary Organizations: A Mediated Distribution Point	246
Elite Politics, the State, and the Sha‘b	255
CONCLUSIONS	269
NOTES	273
BIBLIOGRAPHY	315
INDEX	331