

Table of Contents

Preface	ix
Abbreviations	xi
Introduction	3
PART ONE. WILLIAM OF AUVERGNE
I. The State of Human Knowledge	33
II. Truth in Simple Knowledge	39
1. The Nature of Simple Truth	39
2. The Conditions of Simple Cognition and the Way to Knowledge of Simple Truth	52
III. The Truth of Complex Knowledge	74
1. The Nature of Complex Truth	74
2. Eternal Truths: Problems of Reference and Meaning	85
3. The Way to Knowledge of Complex Truth	97
IV. Conclusion	126
PART TWO. ROBERT GROSSETESTE
V. Truth in Simple Knowledge According to Grosseteste's Early Works	144
VI. Truth in Simple Knowledge According to Grosseteste's Commentaries on Aristotle	157
1. The Nature of Simple Truth	157
2. Reference in Knowledge of Simple Truth	161

TABLE OF CONTENTS

3. The Incorruptibility of Simple Universals	188
4. The Way to Knowledge of Simple Truth	195
VII. The Truth of Complex Knowledge	215
1. The Nature of Complex Truth	216
2. Reference in Complex Knowledge	219
A. The Types of Complex Truth	220
B. Grosseteste's Theory of Reference	232
3. The Way to Knowledge of the Conclusions of Science	245
4. The Way to Knowledge of the Principles of Science	251
A. The Kinds of Principal Cognition	252
B. Knowledge of the Subjects of Science	256
C. Knowledge of the Complex Principles Proper	259
Conclusion	287
Appendixes	293
Bibliography	295
Index	311