

Contents

List of Illustrations	ix
Preface to the New Paperback Edition	xi
Acknowledgments	xxix
PART I: SETTING THE VIRTUAL STAGE	1
CHAPTER 1: THE SUBJECT AND SCOPE OF THIS INQUIRY	3
Arrivals and departures—Everyday Second Life—Terms of discussion—The emergence of virtual worlds—The posthuman and the human—What this, a book, does.
CHAPTER 2: HISTORY	32
Prehistories of the virtual—Histories of virtual technology—A personal virtual history—Histories of virtual worlds—Histories of cybersociality research—Techne.
CHAPTER 3: METHOD	60
Virtual worlds in their own terms—Anthropology and ethnography—Participant observation—Interviews, focus groups, and beyond the platform—Ethics—Claims and reflexivity.
PART II: CULTURE IN A VIRTUAL WORLD	87
CHAPTER 4: PLACE AND TIME	89
Visuality and land—Builds and objects—Lag—Afk—Immersion—Presence.
CHAPTER 5: PERSONHOOD	118
The self—The life course—Avatars and alts—Embodiment—Gender and race—Agency.

CHAPTER 6: INTIMACY	151
Language—Friendship—Sexuality—Love— Family—Addiction.
CHAPTER 7: COMMUNITY	179
The event—The group—Kindness—Griefing—Between virtual worlds—Beyond virtual worlds.
PART III: THE AGE OF TECHNE	203
CHAPTER 8: POLITICAL ECONOMY	205
Creationist capitalism—Money and labor—Property— Governance—Inequality—Platform and social form.
CHAPTER 9: THE VIRTUAL	237
The virtual human—Culture and the online—Simula- tion—Fiction and design—The massively multiple— Toward an anthropology of virtual worlds.
Glossary	251
Notes	255
Works Cited	271
Index	303