

Contents

Acknowledgments	ix
Chapter One
Interdisciplinarity and Social Justice: An Introduction	1
Joe Parker and Ranu Samantrai
I. Critiques of Disciplinarity
Chapter Two
Metaphors of Globalization	37
Lisa Lowe
Chapter Three
Crossing the Immigration and Race Border: A Critical Race Theory Approach to Immigration Studies	63
Mary Romero
Chapter Four
Whiteness in a Red Room: Telling Stories and Legal Discourse in the Tribal Courtroom	87
Raquel Montoya-Lewis
Chapter Five
An Emergent Extradisciplinarity: Worlding Arabs, Activist Representation, and the Example of Ahdaf Soueif	105
Mrinalini Chakravorty

II. Critiques of Interdisciplinary Fields

Chapter Six
Cultural Studies: Justice, Values, and Social Class	131
Patrick Brantlinger
Chapter Seven
The Other Inters: Augmenting Academic Disciplinarity to Make Things (Happen)	151
Alexandra Juhasz
Chapter Eight
The Ethico-politics of Dedisciplinary Practices	175
Joe Parker
Chapter Nine
The Limits of Interdisciplinarity: The Case of Chicano Studies	199
Michael Soldatenko

III. Interdisciplinary Claims to Social Justice

Chapter Ten
Whiteness Studies and the Paradox of Particularity	217
Robyn Wiegman
Chapter Eleven
Interdisciplinarity: A Consideration from African American Studies	245
Lindon Barrett
Chapter Twelve
Imagined Immunities: Border Rhetorics and the Ethos of Sans Frontièrisme	261
D. Robert DeChaine
Chapter Thirteen
Toward Collaborative Coalitions: From Internationalism to Interdisciplinarity	287
Leila Neti

Chapter Fourteen
Interdisciplinary Investigations and Cross-Sector Interventions	301
Ellen Messer-Davidow
Chapter Fifteen
Accounting for Interdisciplinarity	321
Miranda Joseph
Afterword: Justice Without Truth?	353
Ranu Samantrai
List of Contributors	363
Index	365