

Contents

A Note on Transliteration and Style	ix
Editors' Introduction	xi

I Sufism and the Islamic Tradition

1. Islam in Three Dimensions	3
2. The Bodily Gestures of the Ṣalāt	23
3. Weeping in Islam and the Sufi Tradition	27
4. A Shādhilī Presence in Shi'ite Islam	39
5. The Pluralistic Vision of Persian Sufi Poetry	43
6. The Real Shams-i Tabrīzī	49
7. The Koran as the Lover's Mirror	57

II Ibn al-'Arabī and His Influence

8. A History of the Term Waḥdat al-Wujūd	71
9. The Question of Ibn al-'Arabī's "Influence" on Rūmī	89
10. Ibn al-'Arabī on the Benefit of Knowledge	101
11. Qūnawī, Neoplatonism, and the Circle of Ascent	113
12. Farghānī on Oneness and Manyness	133
13. Jāmī on the Perfect Man	143
14. Two Treatises by Khwāja Khurd	153
15. A Debate Between the Soul and the Spirit	171
16. A Chishtī Handbook from Bijapur	181

III Islamic Philosophy

17. Rūmī and the Wooden Leg of Reason	201
18. Bābā Afḍal's Psychology	211
19. Mullā Ṣadrā on Perception	221

20. Eschatology in Islamic Thought	233
21. The Circle of Life	259
22. The Goal of Philosophy	267

IV Reflections on Contemporary Issues

23. The Metaphysical Roots of War and Peace	277
24. Harmony with the Cosmos	291
25. Stray Camels in China	299
26. In Search of the Lost Heart	313

Appendix I: A Chronological List of Historical Figures Cited	327
Appendix II: Chapter Sources	329
Appendix III: Books by William C. Chittick	331
Notes	335
Bibliography	365
Index of Koranic Passages	375
Index of Hadiths and Sayings	383
Index of Names and Technical Terms	387