

Contents

Acknowledgments	ix
Abbreviations	xi
Introduction	1
Thesis	1
Interpretive Methodology	3
Biographical Introduction to Wang Fuzhi	6
Significance, Symbolism, and Strata of the Yijing	9
Disambiguating Ecological Humanism	18
Synopsis	21
Chapter 1. Natural Cosmology	27
Creationism as Antithesis	27
Tian qua Nature	32
Neo-Confucian Terminology of Cosmic Creativity	37
Chapter 2. Complex Systems and Patterns of Energy	47
A Perspective from Ecosystems Ecology	47
Nature as Patterns of Energy	53
From “Simple” to “Complex” Materialism	59
Chapter 3. Reading the Yijing from an Ecological Perspective	67
Holistic Hermeneutics	67
Cosmography of the Yijing	83
Practical Knowledge through Comprehensive Observation	94

Chapter 4. Between Nature and Persons	103
Humanizing Nature in Ecological Humanism	104
Humanizing Nature in Chinese Philosophy	107
Between Persons and Nature	111
Wang Fuzhi's Critique of Orthodox and Heterodox Doctrines	115
Mencius's Heart-and-Mind and the Human Experience	122
Chapter 5. Identifying Religiosity in Wang Fuzhi's Neo-Confucianism	127
Ritual Propriety as Humanizing Nature	128
Immanence of Persons-in-the-World	131
Procreativity in the Yijing	134
Experiencing the Sublime in Nature	141
Chapter 6. Conclusion	145
Summarizing Reflections	145
Application of a Theory	149
Notes	159
Glossary of Key Chinese Terms	189
Bibliography	191
Index	201