

Acknowledgments

This book would not have been possible without the generosity of Lena Albanese, Rose Amato, Joe Anastasi, Joe Arigo, Nick Argiro, Tom Bardetti, Eugene Belmonte, Mary Beninati, Salvatore Bernardo, Rosa Birra, Josie Bosco, Josie Bossio, Fred Bourne, Rose Bradenese, Jimmy Brovaco, Bernadine Cacciola, Santa Cacciola, Anna Caffarelli, Pasquale Capone, Marguerite Carbone, Joe Cataloni, Maria Chiarenza, Maria Chiucchiolo, Vladimir Ciani, Ann Ciriello, Mary Colantonio, Frances Zanfani Corolla, Frank Corolla, Francesca Corrao, Teresa Costanzo, Antonio Crugnale, Philomena Crugnale, Theresa D'Alelio, Phil D'Alessandro, Marianna D'Antonio, Dr. Nicholas Dello Russo, Joe DiCenso, Nunzio DiMarino, Elvira DiMattia, Frank Favazza, Liberatore Federico, Giuseppe Freni, Rose Giampaola, Paul Grande, Anita LaRocca, Robert LaRocca, Frances Lauro, Marguerite Locchiato, Helen Luongo, Antonia Luzzo, Alice Manaro, Michelina Manfra, Angie Marinella, Eddie Marino, Louis Marrotta, Maria Missiano, Mary Molinari, Al Mostone, Mary Nastasi, Theresa Paglia, Arpito Pagliuca, Mary Pagliuca, Mary Pasquale, Mariano Penissi, Sam Perrelli, Rose Pesce, Joe Petringa, Lucia Petringa, Viola Pettinelli, Diego Picadacci, Josie Picadacci, Grace Pinelli, Charlie Polcari, Dominic Rosso, Angelo Sardo, Alberto Sorrentino, Crocefissa Summa, Leslie Surrette, Idolo Taglieri, Antonio Tarantino, Joe Troisi, Lena Troisi, Josie Tranquillo, Mary Arigo Ventola, Francesco Ventresca, Maria Virginio, and Josie Zizza.

Many North Enders made invaluable contributions to the book. I am grateful to Dr. Nicholas Dello Russo, a lifelong North Ender who generously contributed his knowledge, providing many missing pieces to the neighborhood mosaic that would have been lost to history.

I am also greatly indebted to my friend Dr. James Pasto for sharing his encyclopedic knowledge of the North End and providing his expertise at every step of the way. I would also like to thank Vito Aluia, a local historian who generously shared his firsthand knowledge and photographs of the North End. I would also like to thank Betty Panza, Richard and Bennett Molinari, and Sal DiMasi for their important contributions. Many thanks go to Andrea Palermo and Sebastiana Miano of the Biblioteca Comunale of Licodea Eubea in Sicily for their assistance. A special thanks goes to Tommy Damigella for his infectious enthusiasm for the book project and his passion to keep our Italian American history alive.

I was fortunate to meet Loreto Giovannone, an independent researcher who contacted me from Italy and generously shared his important research and documentation to uncover the hidden story of the Unification (Risorgimento). I also want to thank the Italian scholar Freedom Pentimalli, who deciphered and translated Maria Missiano's poem from her Calabrese dialect.

Words cannot describe the contribution of Damiano Saputo of Cinisi, Sicily, who dedicated countless hours helping to translate oral histories in nearly forgotten Sicilian dialects in my recordings from 1979 through 1982. Damiano's sincere commitment to the project's success often left me sitting in amazement at my computer late into the night. I want to thank Ned Scigliano, the great-nephew of George Scigliano, for sharing his knowledge of the life and times of his great-uncle. I also want to thank Eugene Mirabelli for contributing his mother's memoir of the North End and Keith Favazza for sharing the stories of his grandfather Frank and thus preserving the history of Sicilian fishermen that would have been lost to history.

Since 1980, the words of my dear friend and lifelong North Ender Mary Molinari resonated within me: "Anthony, I hope you make something out of all this; I hope you make a book so people won't forget."

Because of the contributions of many North Enders, both past and present, who graciously shared their life experiences, I sincerely believe this book belongs to them more than me. It is my hope that I have given their legacies the respect and honor they deserve.