
Contents

Acknowledgements	vii
List of Illustrations	viii
Introduction: What a City Can Do Hélène Frichot, Catharina Gabrielsson and Jonathan Metzger	1
1 Becoming-Other: New Orleans from a Deleuzian Perspective Fredrika Spindler	13
2 Humans as Vectors and Intensities: Becoming Urban in Berlin and New York City Ignacio Farías and Stefan Höhne	17
3 Rethinking the City as a Body without Organs Louise Beltzung Horvath and Markus Maicher	33
4 The Impredicative City, or What Can a Boston Square Do? Marc Boumeester and Andrej Radman	46
5 Laboratory Urbanism in Schladming Magnus Eriksson and Karl Palmås	64
6 Never Believe That the City Will Suffice to Save Us! Stockholm Gentrifictions Hélène Frichot and Jonathan Metzger	79
7 Urban Democracy Beyond Deleuze and Guattari Mark Purcell	95
8 Genealogy of Capital and the City: CERFI, Deleuze and Guattari Sven-Olov Wallenstein	111
9 Deterritorialising the Face of the City: How Treponema pallidum Planned Melbourne Jean Hillier	128

vi Contents

10	The City and ‘the Homeless’: Machinic Subjects Michele Lancione	145
11	Cut-Make-and-Trim: Fast Fashion Urbanity in the Residues of Rana Plaza Maria Hellström Reimer	161
12	The Haifa Urban Destruction Machine Ronnen Ben-Arie	178
13	Imagining Portland’s Future Past: Lessons from Indigenous Placemaking in a Colonial City Janet McGaw	193
14	Folded Ground: Escape from Cape Town Catharina Gabriellsson	209
15	Sociability and Endurance in Jakarta AbdouMaliq Simone	224
	Postscript: For an Urban Machinic Ecology Gary Genosko	241
	Notes on Contributors	246
	Index	253