

Illustrations

Figures

Figure 0.1	The photographer's image foreshadows his own fate in The Omen (Richard Donner, 1976).	3
Figure 0.2	Alice confronts her digital counterparts in Cam (Daniel Goldhaber, 2018).	10
Figure 1.1	The vampire's fatal encounter with light is depicted via double exposure in Nosferatu (F. W. Murnau, 1922).	24
Figure 1.2	The vampire's gaze, charged with optical power, in A Girl Walks Home Alone at Night (Ana Lily Amirpour, 2014).	34
Figure 1.3	A luminous digital swirl signifies the vampire's presence in Day Watch (Timur Bekmambetov, 2004).	45
Figure 2.1	Media play a crucial role in Bub's 'reprogramming' in Day of the Dead (George Romero, 1985).	52
Figure 2.2	The blood-smeared whiteboard signals Andy's zombification in Dawn of the Dead (Zack Snyder, 2004).	54
Figure 2.3	Digital and analogue techniques were combined to add scratches and other 'damage' to this shot from Planet Terror (Robert Rodriguez, 2007).	67
Figure 3.1	An array of media screens greets the investigators in V/H/S/2/ (Simon Barrett et al., 2013).	86
Figure 3.2	The X-Box Kinect stipples the characters with infrared light in Paranormal Activity 4 (Ariel Schulman and Henry Joost, 2012).	91
Figure 3.3	Blaire's face is broken up by digital glitches in Unfriended (Leo Gabriadze, 2014).	101
Figure 4.1	The anonymous killer seizes a weapon from the floor in Deep Red (Dario Argento, 1975).	109

Figure 4.2	Sam witnesses an attempted murder at the art gallery in The Bird with the Crystal Plumage (Dario Argento, 1970).	114
Figure 4.3	The blade becomes an object of sensual play in the neo- giallo Amer (Hélène Cattet and Bruno Forzani, 2009).	127
Figure 5.1	Marie's blood-spattered face contrasts with the uncanny green of Alex's saw in High Tension (Alexandre Aja, 2003).	142
Figure 5.2	Eun-ju, wearing red, faces the ghostly apparition of Su-yeon in her emerald dress in A Tale of Two Sisters (Kim Jee-woon, 2003).	145
Figure 5.3	Ruby applies colour to Jesse's lips as Sarah looks on in The Neon Demon (Nicolas Winding Refn, 2016).	150
Figure 6.1	Silvia rehearses her scream in Berberian Sound Studio (Peter Strickland, 2012).	165
Figure 6.2	The blind veteran points his gun into the room as Rocky and Alex try to remain silent in Don't Breathe (Fede Álvarez, 2016).	170
Figure 6.3	Regan amplifies the feedback from her hearing aid in order to disable the aliens in A Quiet Place (John Krasinski, 2018).	177