

Contents

List of Figures	vi
Series Editor's Preface	vii
Acknowledgements	ix
A Note on the Cover	xii
 Introduction: Setting the Stage – Views of Victorian Theatre	 1
 1. An Actress's Tears: Authenticity and the Reassertion of Social Class	 36
2. The Actress at Home: Domesticity, Respectability and the Disruption of Class Hierarchies	72
3. The Actress and Her Audience: Performance, Authorship and the Exceptional Woman in George Eliot	106
4. Novelistic Naturalism: 'The Ideal Mother Cannot Be the Great Artist'	146
5. From Playing Parts to Rewriting Roles: Actresses and the Political Stage	173
 Epilogue	 226
 Bibliography	 229
Index	242