

CONTENTS

---

|                 |                                                                                                                     |      |
|-----------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------|
|                 | Acknowledgements                                                                                                    | xi   |
|                 | Publisher's Acknowledgements                                                                                        | xiii |
|                 | About this book                                                                                                     | xix  |
|                 | General Introduction                                                                                                | 1    |
| PART I:  | THEORY AND EXPERIENCE                                                                                        |      |
|                 | Introduction                                                                                                        | 25   |
|                 | 1 The Drowned and the SavedPrimo Levi                                                             | 29   |
|                 | 2 'Resentments'Jean Améry                                                                                | 36   |
|                 | 3 Days and MemoryCharlotte Delbo                                                                  | 45   |
|                 | 4 'The Camps'Ruth Kluger                                                                                 | 50   |
| PART II: | HISTORICIZING THE HOLOCAUST?                                                                                 |      |
|                 | Introduction                                                                                                        | 59   |
|                 | 5 'On the Public Use of History'Jürgen Habermas                                                          | 63   |
|                 | 6 'The "Final Solution": On the Unease in HistoricalInterpretation'Saul Friedlander                  | 69   |
|                 | 7 'Historical Understanding and Counterrationality:The Judenrat as Epistemological Vantage'Dan Diner | 75   |
|                 | 8 'The Uniqueness and Normality of the Holocaust'Zygmunt Bauman                                          | 82   |

---

|                                                          |                                                                 |     |
|----------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------|-----|
| 9                                                        | 'The European Imagination in the Age of Total War'              | 89  |
|                                                          | Omer Bartov                                              |     |
| 10                                                       | The Origins of the Nazi Genocide                         | 96  |
|                                                          | Henry Friedlander                                        |     |
| PART III: NAZI CULTURE, FASCISM, AND ANTISEMITISM |                                                                 |     |
|                                                          | Introduction                                                    | 103 |
| 11                                                       | 'The Rhetoric of Hitler's "Battle"'                             | 107 |
|                                                          | Kenneth Burke                                            |     |
| 12                                                       | 'The Psychological Structure of Fascism'                        | 113 |
|                                                          | Georges Bataille                                         |     |
| 13                                                       | 'Elements of Anti-Semitism'                                     | 121 |
|                                                          | Max Horkheimer and Theodor W. Adorno                     |     |
| 14                                                       | 'The Fiction of the Political'                                  | 127 |
|                                                          | Philippe Lacoue-Labarthe                                 |     |
| 15                                                       | 'Anti-Semitism and National Socialism'                          | 132 |
|                                                          | Moishe Postone                                           |     |
| 16                                                       | 'Ordinary Men'                                                  | 140 |
|                                                          | Christopher Browning                                     |     |
| PART IV: RACE, GENDER, AND GENOCIDE               |                                                                 |     |
|                                                          | Introduction                                                    | 147 |
| 17                                                       | 'Floods, Bodies, History'                                       | 151 |
|                                                          | Klaus Theweleit                                          |     |
| 18                                                       | 'Racism and Sexism in Nazi Germany'                             | 160 |
|                                                          | Gisela Bock                                              |     |
| 19                                                       | 'The Unethical and the Unspeakable:Women and the Holocaust' | 169 |
|                                                          | Joan Ringelheim                                          |     |
| 20                                                       | 'Women and the Holocaust:Analyzing Gender Difference'       | 178 |
|                                                          | Pascale Rachel Bos                                       |     |
| PART V: PSYCHOANALYSIS, TRAUMA, AND MEMORY        |                                                                 |     |
|                                                          | Introduction                                                    | 189 |
| 21                                                       | 'Trauma and Experience'                                         | 192 |
|                                                          | Cathy Caruth                                             |     |
| 22                                                       | 'Trauma, Absence, Loss'                                         | 199 |
|                                                          | Dominick LaCapra                                         |     |

---

|                                                                |                                                                                                                        |     |
|----------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|
| 23                                                             | ‘Trauma and Transference’Saul Friedlander                                                                   | 206 |
| 24                                                             | ‘History Beyond the Pleasure Principle:Some Thoughts on the Representationof Trauma’Eric L. Santner | 214 |
| 25                                                             | ‘Bearing Witness or the Vicissitudes of Listening’Dori Laub                                                 | 221 |
| PART VI: QUESTIONS OF RELIGION, ETHICS, AND JUSTICE |                                                                                                                        |     |
|                                                                | Introduction                                                                                                           | 229 |
| 26                                                             | ‘Thinking the Tremendum’Arthur A. Cohen                                                                     | 233 |
| 27                                                             | ‘To Mend the World’Emil L. Fackenheim                                                                       | 237 |
| 28                                                             | ‘Ethics and Spirit’Emmanuel Levinas                                                                         | 241 |
| 29                                                             | Eichmann in JerusalemHannah Arendt                                                                   | 246 |
| 30                                                             | ‘What is a Camp?’Giorgio Agamben                                                                            | 252 |
| 31                                                             | The DifferendJean-François Lyotard                                                                   | 257 |
| 32                                                             | ‘New Political Theology – Out of Holocaustand Liberation’Gillian Rose                                   | 263 |
| PART VII: LITERATURE AND CULTURE AFTER AUSCHWITZ    |                                                                                                                        |     |
|                                                                | Introduction                                                                                                           | 273 |
| 33                                                             | ‘Theses on the Philosophy of History’Walter Benjamin                                                        | 277 |
| 34                                                             | ‘Cultural Criticism and Society’Theodor W. Adorno                                                           | 280 |
| 35                                                             | ‘Meditations on Metaphysics’Theodor W. Adorno                                                               | 282 |
| 36                                                             | ‘Writing and the Holocaust’Irving Howe                                                                      | 288 |

|                                               |                                                                                                             |     |
|-----------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|
| 37                                            | 'Non-Philosophical Amazement – Writing in Amazement: Benjamin's Position in the Aftermath of the Holocaust' | 291 |
|                                               | Sigrid Weigel                                                                                        |     |
| 38                                            | The Writing of the Disaster                                                                          | 299 |
|                                               | Maurice Blanchot                                                                                     |     |
| 39                                            | 'Shibboleth'                                                                                                | 306 |
|                                               | Jacques Derrida                                                                                      |     |
| 40                                            | 'Language and Culture after the Holocaust'                                                                  | 313 |
|                                               | Geoffrey H. Hartman                                                                                  |     |
| 41                                            | 'Representing Auschwitz'                                                                                    | 318 |
|                                               | Sidra DeKoven Ezrahi                                                                                 |     |
| PART VIII: MODES OF NARRATION      |                                                                                                             |     |
|                                               | Introduction                                                                                                | 325 |
| 42                                            | 'The Moral Space of Figurative Discourse'                                                                   | 329 |
|                                               | Berel Lang                                                                                           |     |
| 43                                            | 'Writing the Holocaust'                                                                                     | 335 |
|                                               | James E. Young                                                                                       |     |
| 44                                            | 'The Modernist Event'                                                                                       | 339 |
|                                               | Hayden White                                                                                         |     |
| 45                                            | 'Against Foreshadowing'                                                                                     | 346 |
|                                               | Michael André Bernstein                                                                              |     |
| 46                                            | 'Deep Memory: The Buried Self'                                                                              | 354 |
|                                               | Lawrence L. Langer                                                                                   |     |
| 47                                            | 'The Return of the Voice: Claude Lanzmann's Shoah '                                                  | 360 |
|                                               | Shoshana Felman                                                                                      |     |
| PART IX: RETHINKING VISUAL CULTURE |                                                                                                             |     |
|                                               | Introduction                                                                                                | 371 |
| 48                                            | Reflections of Nazism                                                                                | 375 |
|                                               | Saul Friedlander                                                                                     |     |
| 49                                            | 'Holocaust'                                                                                                 | 380 |
|                                               | Jean Baudrillard                                                                                     |     |
| 50                                            | 'Anselm Kiefer: the Terror of History, the Temptation of Myth'                                              | 383 |
|                                               | Andreas Huyssen                                                                                      |     |

---

|                                                                                  |                                                                                                                                        |     |
|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|
| 51                                                                               | 'The Aesthetic Transformation of the Imageof the Unimaginable: Notes on ClaudeLanzmann's Shoah 'Gertrud Koch | 389 |
| 52                                                                               | 'In Plain Sight'Lilliane Weissberg                                                                                          | 396 |
| PART X: LATECOMERS: NEGATIVE SYMBIOSIS,POSTMEMORY, AND COUNTERMEMORY |                                                                                                                                        |     |
|                                                                                  | Introduction                                                                                                                           | 407 |
| 53                                                                               | 'Memory Shot Through with Holes'Henri Raczymow                                                                              | 410 |
| 54                                                                               | 'Mourning and Postmemory'Marianne Hirsch                                                                                    | 416 |
| 55                                                                               | 'Negative Symbiosis:Germans and Jews after Auschwitz'Dan Diner                                                          | 423 |
| 56                                                                               | 'The Countermonument: Memory AgainstItself in Germany'James E. Young                                                    | 431 |
| PART XI: UNIQUENESS, COMPARISON, AND THEPOLITICS OF MEMORY           |                                                                                                                                        |     |
|                                                                                  | Introduction                                                                                                                           | 441 |
| 57                                                                               | 'Two Kinds of Uniqueness:The Universal Aspects of the Holocaust'Alan Milchman and Alan Rosenberg                        | 444 |
| 58                                                                               | 'What Was the Holocaust?'Yehuda Bauer                                                                                       | 451 |
| 59                                                                               | The Black AtlanticPaul Gilroy                                                                                        | 455 |
| 60                                                                               | 'Thinking about Genocide'Mahmood Mamdani                                                                                    | 461 |
| 61                                                                               | 'Dare to Compare: Americanizing the Holocaust'Lilian Friedberg                                                              | 468 |
| 62                                                                               | The Holocaust in American LifePeter Novick                                                                           | 474 |
|                                                                                  | Index                                                                                                                                  | 481 |

