

Contents

Preface	x
Introduction: The Non-Linguistic Environment	1
Human habitats	1
Human geography	2
Demography	3
Expanding repertoires	3
Birth order and density	5
Technological developments	6
Interference with language management by non-linguistic forces	7
Notes	7
1 The Individual in Language Policy and Management	9
Seeking a model	9
Languages or repertoires	10
Beliefs	12
Self-management	13
The individual's potential effect on language management	14
Notes	14
2 The Family and the Home	16
Significance of the home	16
What is a family?	17
Migrating families	17
Exogamy	18
Diasporas and urbanisation	19
External pressures on family policy	22
The importance of the family in language management	24
Notes	24
3 Education	26
Influence of school language	26

Importance of school language of instruction	27
Variation in school language practice	28
Scribal elite schools and Hebrew popular literacy	29
Traditional Indian and medieval European schooling	30
Economic pressure on schooling	30
National unity and heritage identity	31
The home–school language gap	33
Who sets policy for schools?	34
Language education policy working	37
Standard versus vernacular language in schools	41
Bilingual education	41
The school as a major instrument of language management	43
Notes	44
4 Neighbourhoods and the Workplace	45
Peers and parents	45
Public signage in the neighbourhood	46
What is a neighbourhood?	48
Language socialisation	49
Language in the workplace	51
Language management in the workplace as a factor	52
Notes	52
5 Public Institutions for Communication, Culture, Religion, Health and Law	53
The interconnection of levels	53
Media	53
Religion	56
The health field	57
Police and law	58
The influence of language management in public domains	60
Notes	60
6 Military Language Policy and Management	62
Military language policy	62
Intelligence	65
Training for military and intelligence	66
Notes	67
7 Imperialism and Colonialism	68
Colonies in the ancient world	68
The Portuguese Empire	69
Brazil	70

Portuguese colonies in Asia	70
Portuguese colonies in Africa	71
The French Empire	72
French colonies in North America	75
French colonies in Asia and the Pacific	77
French colonies in the Caribbean	79
French colonies in Africa	81
French in North Africa and Arabisation	88
French colonies in the Middle East	90
Colonial language policy	91
The Spanish colonies	92
The Belgian colonies	93
German colonialism	94
The Italian attempts at empire	94
The British Empire	95
The Macaulay Minute	96
The colonial language heritage	98
Notes	99
8 Economic Pressure and Neoliberalism	100
Motivation	100
Real and assumed value	101
Establishing economic value	102
Language value in multilingual societies	103
Language as commodity	104
History of language and political economy	105
The significance of economics	106
Notes	107
9 Endangerment and Language Shift	108
Language endangerment?	108
A more complex model	110
Loss or evolution	111
The linguists' case for diversity	112
Minority languages in India	114
Minority languages in Vanuatu	119
Minority languages in Brazil	119
Minority languages in Nigeria	121
Minority languages in the Russian Federation	121
The fate of endangered languages	122
Notes	124
10 Management Agencies and Advocates	127
Advocates and managers	127

Advocacy and management at different levels	128
Two cases of Indian language activism	129
Language academies	130
Language management agencies	132
The Quechua Academy	133
Hebrew language activism	134
Language police	137
Soviet language management	137
Language management in the People's Republic of China	138
Successful advocacy for regeneration of Māori	140
Advocacy	143
Language reformers as advocates	143
Inventing writing systems	145
Individuals as advocates	146
Managers	148
Notes	150
11 Treaties, Charters and Other Supranational Sources of Rights	154
Human rights and language	154
Minority language rights	156
Regional recognition of rights for language	158
The European Union	159
The Council of Europe	160
Rights as advocacy	161
Notes	162
12 The Nation State as Language Manager	163
But who cares?	163
State sovereignty and linguistic ideologies	167
National language management – laws	171
National language management – agents and agencies	174
Notes	179
13 Some National Language Policies	181
Language policy in Singapore and Malaysia	181
Swahili in East Africa	183
National policy in former Soviet nations	186
China and the Koreans	188
The European Union	190
Four I's – India, Israel, Indonesia and Ireland	191
Indonesia: selecting a new national language	191
Israel: revernacularising and revitalising a classical heritage
literary language	195
Ireland and the shift to English	196

Contents	ix
Indian diversity and revivals	196
Notes	196
14 Rethinking a Theory	197
The current model of language policy	198
Should language be managed?	199
Rethinking	201
The difficulties of naming and counting	202
Notes	203
Appendix	204
Table A.1 EGIDS	204
Endangered languages in five countries	205
Table A.2 Some endangered languages of India	205
Table A.3 Some endangered languages of Vanuatu	208
Table A.4 Selected endangered indigenous languages of Brazil	209
Table A.5 Some endangered languages of Nigeria	211
Table A.6 Russian minority languages	212
Note	214
References	215
Index of language varieties	261
Index of topics	266